A Wily Girl Indicates the Following to Ward's Jolly Dogs.

The match was a regular greenback match.

That could not by law be stayed;

His offer a legal tender was,

And she was the tender maid

[made].

Many men and girls,

Have had occasion to know,

That two do not make a pair,

The prettiest hood in the world—childhood.

Silver wedding presents and silver plated tea and table wear, dinner sets for $35 per set; decorated toilet sets, eleven pieces, $3.50. Do not fail to call and get our prices. New ar-ival of goods from England and France and Germany. Also the compliments of Ward's three jolly dogs.

No. 8 West Columbia, Ward's Cheap

Crockery Store.

WHAT has got into the republican leaders that they are all deserting the party.

BEECHER's appearance on the platform for GARFIELD is in accordance with the eternal fitness of things.

One perjurer should stand by another.

PENNSYLVANIA will not forget her brave son who battled so manfully and nobly defended her soil from the ravages of her invaders.

HANCOCK never did surrender and always came out of a battle with his colors flying. He will win the battle in November and plant his colors in the white house.

BRICK POMEROY, the leader of the greenback party in the west, now can be depended on and whose hands never took a bribe?

FORNEY's "boom" in Pennsylvania for HANCOCK is getting to be the biggest "boom" the old Keystone state ever saw. The republicans are flocking around the democratic standard by the hundred.

THE HON. JOHN W. FORNEY says

"the accessions to HANCOCK and English are so numerous, and the evidence of the break in the old line so strong," that he will not be surprised if Pen-sylvania goes democratic.

ROBERT J. LOWRY has assumed entire control of the Auburn Courier.

THEODORE REED retiring. ROBERT is a journalist of good ability and will undoubtedly make the Courier a live, wide awake sheet. Success attend you,

Bob.

CENSUS returns from the south are beginning to show an increase instead of a decrease in the population.

This will be a great disappointment to republican politicians who hoped that the representation of the south in congress would be reduced.

MA. COSGROVE, candidate for sheriff, is a hard-working, industrious young man, and will, undoubtedly,

make this county a good officer.

Democrats will not be imposed upon by any of the campaign slanders and fusion ideas circulated in behalf of the other candidate.

THE republicans are making frantic efforts to carry Maine. They bleed and groan for Maine. All the efforts of the ring are put forth to save Maine from going democratic. But Maine politicians seem to think that the state will give a large democratic majority.

GEN. E. W. BARBER, of Michigan, has come over to the HANCOCK side of the question. GEN. BARBER succeeded GEN. W. L. TERRE as third assistant postmaster general under

GRANT. He was a staunch friend of

CHANDLER and has been a sound republican but cannot stomach the present nominees of that party.

THE republican press were chock full of fury ready to pour on the devoted head of General HANCOCK when his letter to SHERMAN should be published. Now they are mud because the letter did not turn out as they thought it would, so they have determined to vent their spleen on the head of ENGLISH. They must work their "bile" off some where or burst.

COULD anything more vividly illustrate the sound common sense of General HANCOCK's position that "the basis of a substantial, practical civil service reform must be first established by the people in filling the elective offices," than the nomination by the republicans to the vice-presidency of General ARTHUR in the face of his expulsion from office for openly spitting upon the civil service reform of HAYES.

A BIG difference between COLFAX in the Credit-Mobilier, and GARFIELD in the back pay, is that while both acted as liars, COLFAX lied, but

GARFIELD didn't, and when asked

Hampshire, New Jersey, New York,

North Carolina, Pennsylvania, South

Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia, November 2; Georgia, November 3.

THE presidential battle now being waged throughout the United States is quite different from all other campaigns in the remarkable fact that the charges, and they are serious ones, made against the republican candidates owe their origin to prominent members of their own party, and every one of them is supported by republican documentary testimony.

They are charged with the gravest of offenses, and, if true, as this evidence shows them to be, they cover Generals

GARFIELD and ARTHUR with crime as the leper is covered with sores.

These charges, involving salary grab-bbling, selling influence while in congress, credit mobilization as shown by the committee against GARFIELD, and of corruption, fraud and profligate administration against ARTHUR

by President HAYES and Secretary

SHERMAN, for which ARTHUR was dismissed from office, all come from their own party, and are all proved by members of the republican party.

And now, for that same party to ask the people of the United States to disbelieve the evidence of these sworn witnesses, and to believe that GAR-

FIELD and ARTHUR are pure, honest and reliable men is spreading it on rather thick. HAYES wrote to AR-THUR: "With a deep sense of my obligations under the constitution, I regard it as my plain duty to suspend you, in order that the office may be honestly administered." As has been proven by his own party JAMES A.

GARFIELD's dishonesty as far above that of the most corrupt politician.

Yet you are asked to vote for these men and forget all their past history and believe that they are the only two men who can give us peace, harmony and prosperity. As well trust the lamb with the hungry wolf as trust the national affairs with such men.

The republican party has survived its unfitness, and it is impossible to believe otherwise than that defeat awaits it and its candidates.

A WORD ABOUT OURSELVES.

With the present appearance of the SENTINEL its management takes isssue. Yet a little longer and it is the intention to introduce a few needed improvements which it is hoped will add to the beauty of its symmetry and be more pleasing to the eyes of its many friends. To the already large number of Port Wayne people who have so kindly and cordially welcomed us to their midst we feel profoundly grateful and desire to add that if there be any virtue in fidelity to purpose we intend to contribute an honest effort toward keeping the SENTINEL up to as high a standard of journalistic excellence as in our humble ability we will be enabled to do. Its columns will be uncontaminated with the bestial and flashy sensationalism in journalism, and a course in general pursued which it is hoped will command that had constituted "the union."

To be "a union man" now, in the republican sense of the word, has become an offense; and the democrat who talks of such a thing as a right in the States to care for local and domestic concerns of its people, is set down as "a secessionist and a disciple of Jeff Davis." This is news to the democrats who fought to save the union.

Down to 1872 it was thought that State laws providing the mode of electing members of congress and electing presidential electors were simply nullificient for their purpose, and so they were.

They did not, however, give a party in possession of the administration opportunity to interfere in elections, under pretense of protecting voters that had never needed any further protection than the state laws had been able to provide. The pretense of protecting voters is thus shown to be but a cloak to overawe them and provide for the party in power the means of perpetuating its power when it shall be felt that the time for it has come. As proof that the republicans mean mischief, and mischief only, in their ear-nesting for national control of presidential and congressional elections they refuse to allow opportunity for any divided supervision, but insist upon having the whole control of it to themselves. Not content with control of the army and navy, they object to the presence at the polls of an equal number of democratic and republican supervisors of election; and because this proposition for supervisors of elections was modified so as to allow both parties an equal and fair chance for a vote, the bill was (defeated) vetoed, and they will try to get along this time without it.

When an individual acts in this way in the ordinary affairs of life, it is always well to keep an eye on him. It is not safe to assume too much in his favor while he shows that he is not willing to do the fair thing. We make up our minds from conduct like this, that though in the time past he may have been peaceable, he has now changed his ways and is going to give us trouble. When we see any one getting things ready for a fight, and trying to have the arms all on his side and to keep others from being as well armed as himself, we may conclude that he means to avail himself of every advantage to be gained from opportunity. Upon this ground alone can the republican objection to having any body but themselves present as supervisors of the line at the polls, be accounted for. The thing

A young lady was practicing and singing last evening in the west end. She ran the scale up and down and finally struck some operatic air, to which she sang like a drowning man to a plank. A lady and her little son stopped to hear the singing and music, and the songstress kept getting higher and hanging on longer until the little boy could stand it no longer and broke out with, "Is she dying, ma, is she dying, ma, is she going to die?" when the young lady gave a final shrill squeal and stopped. CHLOROFORM.

An Ex-Editor and Doctor Uses to Extract a Tooth.

(Lagrange Standard.)

Almost a fatal accident occurred in town on Monday afternoon. Chloroform was administered to Daniel Crowl, of Lima by Silas McManus, a physician, for the purpose of having a tooth extracted. After the tooth was removed, Mr. Crowl seemingly recovered entirely from the effect of the drug and went to the depot shortly afterward on the arrival of the five o'clock train. As he was about to return he very soon became unconscious and fell to the walk. He was immediately carried to the office of Dr. Niman, near by, where he was attended by these physicians and Dr. Short, and everything in their power done for him, but for a long time he was in a very dangerous, wild and frenzied condition, but finally recovered.

Our Coming Fair.

The time is fast approaching when the seventh annual fair of Northern Indiana Fair Association will be held, and our citizens who take any interest in the welfare of our city should use every opportunity to make it a success. Each person should endeavor to promote, as much as possible, not only their own interests but those of the city. Some of the past fairs have been almost failures on account of the non-interest taken in them by some of the citizens it would benefit the most. The managers are laboring assiduously to make it a success and it only needs the earnest co-operation of our citizens to make our coming fair one of more than usual interest and a better success than any fair that has been held for years.

Buyers should be independent and shop around. It is well enough to trade with an old friend, if his prices are all right, but

BUSINESS IS BUSINESS.

Therefore don't pay exorbitant prices for Furniture and Bedding to any one, when you can purchase them at Foster Brothers at a smaller profit than any house ever before attempted to retail them.

FOSTER BROS.

Did not increase their business expenses scarcely one penny by going into furniture, as the same help and the same building is used with which they transact their immense Dry Goods and Carpet business. It is this that enables them to sell the choicest furniture known to the trade, at no higher prices than competitors charge for inferior goods. Every article of furniture Foster Brothers sell is warranted. No other dealer in the city will do this.

Have held an enormous amount of furniture the past year, but in no instance has any article failed to give the most absolute satisfaction.

A Witty Girl Indicts the Following to Ward's 3 Jolly Dogs.

The match was a regular greenback match.

That could not by law be stayed; His offer a legal tender was, And she was the tender Maid [made].

Many men and girls, Have said occasion to know, That two do not make a pair, The prettiest fool in the world—childhood.

Silver wedding presents and silver plated tea and table wear, dinner and toilet sets decorated; tea and dinner sets for $35 per set; decorated toilet sets, eleven pieces, $5.50. Do not fail to call and get our prices. New arrival of goods from England and France and Germany. Also the compliments of Ward's three jolly dogs. No. 8 West Columbia, Ward's Cheap Crockery Store.

WHAT has got into the republican leaders that they are all deserting the party.

BEECHER's appearance on the platform for GARFIELD is in accordance with the eternal fitness of things. One perjurer should stand by another.

PENNSYLVANIA will not forget her brave son who battled so manfully and nobly defended her soil from the ravages of her invaders.

HANCOCK never did surrender and always came out of a battle with his colors flying. He will win the battle in November and plant his colors in the white house.

BRICK POMEROY, the leader of the greenback party in the west, now publishing The Great West at Denver, Colorado, refuses to support WEAVER for the presidency.

GEN. GARFIELD, on his "March to Sea," surrounds himself with such small men as BEN HARRISON, G. S. ORTH and others of the same ilk. "Birds of a feather," etc.

DON CAMERON says no more $5,000 come out of my pocket, on promises, for campaign funds. Don has had some experience of that kind with HAYES and can't get even with the fraud.

WHAT if the republican managers should insist that Mr. GARFIELD shall step down and out to make room for a candidate whose record can be depended on and whose hands never took a bribe?

FORNEY's "boom" in Pennsylvania for HANCOCK is getting to be the biggest "boom" the old Keystone state ever saw. The republicans are flocking around the democratic standard by the hundred.

THE HON. JOHN W. FORNEY says "the accessions to Hancock and English are so numerous, and the evidence of the break in the old line so strong," that he will not be surprised if Pennsylvania goes democratic.

ROBERT J. LOWRY has assumed entire control of the Auburn Courier, Theodore Reed retiring. ROBERT is a journalist of good ability and will undoubtedly make the Courier a live, wide awake sheet. Success attend you, Bob.

CENSUS returns from the south are beginning to show an increase instead of a decrease in the population. This will be a great disappointment to republican politicians who hoped that the representation of the south in congress would be reduced.

MR. COSGROVE, candidate for sheriff, is a hard-working, industrious young man, and will, undoubtedly, make this county a good officer. Democrats will not be imposed upon by any of the campaign slanders and fusion ideas circulated in behalf of the other candidate.

THE republicans are making frantic efforts to carry Maine. They bleed and groan for Maine. All the efforts of the ring are put forth to save Maine from going democratic. But Maine politicians seem to think that the state will give a large democratic majority.

GEN. E. W. BARBER, of Michigan, has come over to the HANCOCK side of the question. Gen. BARBER succeeded Gen. W. H. TERRE as third assistant postmaster general under GRANT. He was a staunch friend of CHANDLER and has been a sound republican but cannot stomach the present nominees of that party.

THE republican press were chock full of fury ready to pour on the devoted head of General HANCOCK when his letter to SHERMAN should be published. Now they are mad because the letter did not turn out as they thought it would, so they have determined to vent their spleen on the head of ENGLISH. They must work their "bile" off some where or bust.

COULD anything more vividly illustrate the sound common sense of General HANCOCK's position than "the basis of a substantial, practical civil service reform must be first established by the people in filling the elective offices," than the nomination by the republicans to the vice presidency of General ARTHUR in the face of his expulsion from office for openly spitting upon the civil service reform of HAYES.

A BIG difference between COLFAX in the Credit-Mobilier, and GARFIELD in the back pay, is that while both acted as hypocrites, COLFAX lied, but GARFIELD didn't, and when asked what he was going to do with the goods, said he was going to put 'em right back where he got 'em—and he did, whereupon he was re-elected to congress by a reduced majority, but "the other fellow" dropped out of sight entirely.

"They most all do it"—that is, quit the republican camp and join the HANCOCK boom—cases of this sort occur so often that we have stopped trying to count and can hardly keep up with the general run. It's no use talking, both crowd and current are all one way. Our esteemed morning cotemporary did note a "solitary horseman" traveling the other way somewhere up in Wisconsin, but that's the only case of the kind on record and he had a printing press to sell and an eye to business.

OUR state elections will occur as follows this year: Arkansas, first Monday in September; Alabama, first Monday in August; Vermont, first Tuesday in September; Colorado, first Tuesday in October; Maine, second Monday in September; Indiana, West Virginia and Ohio, second Tuesday in October; Connecticut, California, Delaware, Florida, Iowa, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia, November 2; Georgia, November 3.

THE presidential battle now being waged throughout the United States is quite different from all other campaigns in the remarkable fact that the charges, and they are serious ones, made against the republican candidates owe their origin to prominent members of their own party, and every one of them is supported by republican documentary testimony. They are charged with the gravest of offenses, and, if true, as this evidence shows them to be, they cover Generals GARFIELD and ARTHUR with crime as the leper is covered with sores. These charges, involving salary grabbing, selling influence while in congress, credit mobilism as shown by the committee against GARFIELD, and of corruption, fraud and profligate administration against ARTHUR by President HAYES and Secretary SHERMAN, for which ARTHUR was dismissed from office, all come from their own party, and are all proved by members of the republican party. And now, for that same party to ask the people of the United States to disbelieve the evidence of these sworn witnesses, and to believe that GARFIELD and ARTHUR are pure, honest and reliable men is spreading it on rather thick. HAYES wrote to ARTHUR: "With a deep sense of my obligations under the constitution, I regard it as my plain duty to suspend you, in order that the office may be honestly administered." As has been proven by his own party JAMES A. GARFIELD's dishonesty as far above that of the most corrupt politician. Yet you are asked to vote for these men and forget all their past history and believe that they are the only two men who can give us peace, harmony and prosperity. As well trust the lamb with the hungry wolf as trust the national affairs with such men. The republican party has survived its usefulness, and it is impossible to believe otherwise than that defeat awaits it and its candidates.

A WORD ABOUT OURSELVES.
With the present appearance of the SENTINEL its management takes issue. Yet a little longer and it is the intention to introduce a few needed improvements which it is hoped will add to the beauty of its symmetry and be more pleasing to the eyes of its many friends. To the already large number of Fort Wayne people who have so kindly and cordially welcomed us to their midst we feel profoundly grateful and desire to add that if there be any virtue in fidelity to purpose we intend to contribute an honest effort toward keeping the SENTINEL up to as high a standard of journalistic excellence as in our humble ability we will be enabled to do. Its columns will be uncontaminated with the bestial and flashy sensationalism in journalism, and a course in general pursued which it is hoped will command the respect and admiration of the people of the city and country. Politically it will remain the inflexible advocate of democratic measures and in so doing it will doubtless often in the future be necessary to call to memory the revered founders of the party and their historic achievements since the dawn of progress.

THE UNION, THE NATION AND SUPERVISORS.
During the war, the cry of both democrats and republicans was that it was carried on to "save the union," and Mr. LINCOLN honestly incited democrats and republicans alike to its protection by the assurance that its purpose was to "save the union," and, as a pledge to his sincerity, added that if maintaining slavery would "save the union," he would save slavery; but that if the union could only be saved by abolishing slavery, he would abolish slavery. In fine, the saving the union of the states was everywhere, and by everybody, asserted to be the sole purpose for which the war was fought. Democrats and republicans alike did duty in the ranks for that end, and the sole test of a man's loyalty in those days, was whether or not he was "a union man."

It turns out, however, that all this talk of "saving the union" was nothing more than a sham and a pretence, and that instead of saving and perpetuating the union of the states, the real purpose of the war was to break it up, and to make a compact and consolidated "nation" out of the states that had constituted "the union." To be "a union man" now, in the republican sense of the word, has become an offence; and the democrat who talks of such a thing as a right in the States to care for local and domestic concerns of its people, is set down as "a secessionist and a disciple of Jeff Davis." This is news to the democrats who fought to save the union. Down to 1872 it was thought that State laws providing the mode of electing members of congress and choosing presidential electors were amply sufficient for their purpose, and so they were. They did not, however, give a party in possession of the administration opportunity to interfere in elections, under pretence of protecting voters that had never needed any further protection than the state laws had been able to provide. The pretence of protecting voters is thus shown to be but a cloak to overawe them and provide for the party in power the means of perpetuating its power when it shall be felt that the time for it has come. As proof that the republicans mean mischief, and mischief only, in their eagerness for national control of presidential and congressional elections they refuse to allow opportunity for any divided supervision, but insist upon having the whole control of it to themselves. Not content with control of the army and navy, they object to the presence at the polls of an equal number of democratic and republican supervisors of election; and because this proposition for supervisors of elections was modified so as to allow both parties an equal and fair chance for a vote, the bill was (defeated) vetoed, and they will try to get along this time without it.

When an individual acts in this way in the ordinary affairs of life, it is always well to keep an eye on him. It is not safe to assume that he is not willing to do the fair thing. We make up our minds from conduct like this, that though in the time past he may have been peaceable, he has now changed his ways and is going to give us trouble. When we see any one getting things ready for a fight, and trying to have the arms all on his side and to keep others from being as well armed as himself, we may conclude that he means to avail himself of every advantage to be gained from opportunity. Upon this ground alone can the republican objection to having any body but themselves present as supervisors of the line at the polls, be accounted for. The thing looks ugly; and in our judgment is a more serious menace to free institutions than the armies of the rebellion ever were.

POLITICAL POINTS.

Col. Thos. A. Scott is an ardent supporter of Gen. Hancock.

Grant is at the head of a $10,000,000 mining concern. We hope he will be able to make a living.

It is said Mr. George W. Childs, of the Philadelphia Ledger will give his vote and influence to General Hancock.

Jere Black's letter on the authorship of Order No. 40, has a demoralizing effect on the republican organs.

"Again good old Democracy Commands the Nation's cheer, 'Tis Hancock riding to the front, And Garfield to the rear."

The news from Alabama is not only glorious, but tremendously glorious—as a first gun it will do remarkably well.

Mr. Potter Palmer, of Chicago, who labored so hard for the nomination of General Grant, has joined a Hancock and English club.

Major W. Funk, a leading attorney of Corydon, a republican, and who voted in 1876 for Hayes and Wheeler, has declared for Hancock.

The elegant Republican rascals who helped to steal the presidency for Hayes receive something more than $250,000 annually as their reward.

A Corydon correspondent says that four members of the Hancock club of that city voted for Hayes in 1876. The skies are bright in every direction.

The most gratifying reports of the favorable condition of the democratic canvass continue to reach us from all portions of the state. It looks as if we had 'em.

We challenge the Republican party to publish Judge Farwell's decision in the De Golyer pavement case. It makes Garfield appear worse than the Poland committee verdict.

A letter from a Pennsylvanian, written from Altoona, says that hundreds of republican soldiers are flocking to the Hancock standard in that portion of the state. Good!

The republicans are not hankering after any more of General Hancock's private letters on the situation. The Sherman letter completely knocked the wind out of the entire gang.

Gen. James G. Grindlay, of Utica, New York, who was president of the convention which elected Conkling a delegate to the Utica convention, is president of a Hancock club.

The New York Tribune continues to charge that Judge Jere Black wrote General Hancock's famous order No. 40. The Tribune never relaxes its grip on what it regards as a good lie.

Gen. Butler, so his Massachusetts friends say, will soon come out in a letter announcing his support of Hancock and English, and he will probably be the regular democratic candidate for governor in 1880.

George Wilkes, editor of the New York Spirit of the Times and a great sporting friend of Grant, has withdrawn from the republican party and has announced himself as a supporter of Gen. Hancock.

Gen. John B. Cochrane, of New York, who was conspicuous among the Grant men at Chicago, and Hon. Hamilton Fish, of New York, who was secretary of state under Grant, have avowed themselves supporters of Hancock.

STATE NEWS.

The Noble county jail has one inmate.

Addison Williams, aged 90 years, and the oldest citizen in Crawford county, is dead.

Mrs. E. A. Drake, of Elkhart, was found dead in bed by her little son. Heart disease.

Official crookedness to the amount of over $3,000 has been discovered in Marshall county.

Col. Levering, a well-known citizen of Lafayette, has been arrested, tried and fined $5 for cruelty to a horse belonging to himself.

The total value of taxable property in Noble county is $7,306,222; Lagrange, $6,344,685; Steuben, 3,740,145; DeKalb, $5,759,934; Elkhart, $12,390,667; Kosciusko, $9,522,807; Whitley, $5,994,341.

The Elkhart people have resolved to go ahead with their projected railroad to Lake Michigan, regardless of any eastern or southern connection. The shares have been placed at $50, and an earnest effort will be made to raise sufficient funds.

The Elkhart Review says a large worm is troubling the corn in that section. It secretes itself under the husk and lives on the kernels, gnawing them clean off the cob. Our farmers are apprehensive that it will prove quite destructive to the crop.

Rattlesnakes are large, bold and plenty in Lagrange county. A little boy by the name of Frankie Lilly was bitten by one from the effects of which he died in a short time. A Newfoundland dog was also a victim of their spleen.

A most shocking accident occurred at Crawfordsville on Tuesday night. A little four year old daughter of Hon. M. D. White was playing around a fire that had been set in some rubbish when her clothing caught and she was burned so bad that she died in a short time.

Theo. Snovel, of Terre Haute, while fishing about seven miles north of that city, Saturday, captured a cat fish four feet long, weighing seventy-five pounds. While in captivity it swallowed a fish two feet long. This is the largest cat fish that has been caught in that neighborhood, and is exciting a great deal of talk among the fishing tribe.

Very Likely.

Those republicans who served on the Credit Mobilier investigating committee, are now writing letters to explain that if they had supposed Gen. Garfield would ever be a candidate for president they would have been much less severe with him.

It Was So.

It looks as if there might have been something in the old democratic charge that Will Kernan was hired by the republicans to eat fire and spew out flames into the columns of the Okolona (Miss.) states, for now that he has been kicked out of the state's office he is writing for the Chicago Tribune.

Rev. F. HACKMEYER, Supt. German Protestant Orphan's Home, St. Charles Rock Road, St. Louis Co., writing April 30th, 1877, says: "Dr. Harter's Fever and Ague Specific is a positive cure for Chills and Fever; has never failed with us."

Mr. Jno. C. WEIDMAN, of Keosauqua, Ill., says: "I cured a little girl of Ague of three years standing with Dr. Harter's Fever and Ague Specific, after the best physicians failed to benefit her."

Dr. YOUNGBLOOM, of Little York, Mo., says: "I have used Dr. Harter's Fever and Ague Specific in my practice, and can heartily recommend it to the public."

A Wonderful Feat in Telegraphing.
(St. Louis Globe-Democrat.)
One night about three years ago, while some experiments were trying in New York with the automatic sender, some of the boys, probably prompted by jealousy of the ability of Mr. George Idamiller of Pittsburg, who has the reputation of being one of the best operators in the country, were struck with the idea of "rushing" that expert individual. It was the work of a moment to switch the automatic on Pittsburg and call them up. As luck would have it Idamiller answered and was told to get ready for a five-thousand-word special. The preliminaries having been arranged he unsuspectingly told them to go ahead.

Well, they started off at a very moderate gait for a few minutes, then they increased it to the average press rate, and then began tearing climbing upon him gradually, until 40 and then 45 words a minute were reached; still not a break. Forty-six, 47 and then 50 came tearing along, making the Morse sounder buzz and whirl like a circular saw in full motion. By this time several of the boys in Pittsburg were attracted by the unusual excitement Idamiller seemed to be laboring under, and went over to his table to see what was going on. Not daring to say a word for fear of interrupting him, they could but gaze in astonishment at the marvellous work of both sender and receiver. Fifty-five words a minute! Like lightning his hand seemed to fly over the paper, and a dozen pencil points had he worn down, only to snatch another that had been sharpened by one of his admiring colleagues, and kept on, filled with the determination not to allow that man in New York to rush him, if he never took another word. But the climax was reached when they turned the automatic up to sixty words a minute, averaging five letters to the word. Poor George dropped back, his pencil fell from his hand, his eyes closed as he faintly murmured, "Hank Cowen, Patsy Ayers or the devil."

As he was about to return he very soon became unconscious and fell to the walk. He was immediately carried to the office of Dr. Niman, near by, where he was attended by these physicians and Dr. Short, and everything in their power done for him, but for a long time he was in a very dangerous, wild and frenzied condition, but finally recovered.

Our Coming Fair.

The time is fast approaching when the seventh annual fair of Northern Indiana Fair Association will be held, and our citizens who take any interest in the welfare of our city should use every opportunity to make it a success. Each person should endeavor to promote, as much as possible, not only their own interests but those of the city. Some of the past fairs have been almost failures on account of the non-interest taken in them by some of the citizens it would benefit the most. The managers are laboring assiduously to make it a success and it only needs the earnest co-operation of our citizens to make our coming fair one of more than usual interest and a better success than any fair that has been held for years.
